Kitchens, from plan to fitted detail.

Installation support for homeowners, kitchen suppliers, designers and builders. A public project record of measured design, ordering, coordination and fitting.

K01, Surbiton. Finished project photograph, retouched for lighting, perspective and presentation.

The project

Bespoke kitchen and whole-home joinery in Surbiton.

Main installation

September 2025, with later adjustments. Approximately five months on site.

Current enquiries

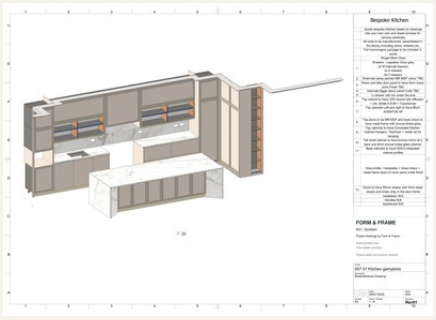

Kitchen fitting in Luton, Dunstable and nearby communities.

Form & Frame surveyed, drew, coordinated and installed the K01 work. Kitchen cabinetry was ordered from bespoke fabricators and manufacturers. The linked case study shows the drawings, site record and finished installation.

The scope behind K01.

A joined-up sequence, with responsibilities made clear.

01 / DRAWINGS

Measured layouts and separate stone drawings.

02 / INSTALLATION

Original site record during cabinet fitting.

03 / FINISHED ROOM

Completed kitchen and resolved details.

The kitchen scope

Survey and measured drawings; client design agreement; material and ironmongery ordering; cabinet installation, fitting and final adjustment. Separate stone drawings supported coordination with the stone fabricator, electrician and plumber.

The wider home

Entrance storage, under-stairs cabinetry, bedroom and loft wardrobes, and internal doors. The TV unit was manufactured by another company and installed by Form & Frame; the adjoining curved walnut and brass corner was made and fitted by Form & Frame.

Discuss your next installation

Send the kitchen plan, project postcode, room photographs and proposed timing. Include what is already supplied and which worktop, appliance and specialist-trade responsibilities are arranged. Scope, access, travel and availability are reviewed before an appointment is agreed.

Work requiring a qualified or registered specialist is allocated to the appropriate trade. Supplier appointments and partnerships are agreed separately.
